Portfolio managers comments

April was characterized by a level of volatility not seen since the start of the health crisis in February 2020, as evidenced by the Fear Index (Vix), which broke 50 points at the beginning of the period. The particularly high tariffs announced by the US President on "Liberation Day" plunged the world's stock markets into uncertainty, sounding the dreaded "grey swan" whistle. Risks to economic growth and inflation, a weakening dollar, the likelihood of stagflation - all the ingredients were in place for a correction of over -10% in the world's main equity indices. The 90-day truce announced a week later triggered a major rebound in the markets, which finally erased their decline, ending the month with an almost stable performance in local currency. From an economic point of view, although this context has led to a downward revision of expected growth this year to around +2.5%, the various data published in Europe and the United States (lower inflation, still solid job market, leading economic indicators still in the growth zone) do not reflect the future effects of this environment. Similarly, the first-quarter earnings season has been a good one, despite reduced visibility. It will take time for financial markets to see and value the effects of this price war. Finally, the dollar was the big loser of the month, with a correction close to -4.5% against the world's main currencies.

Against this backdrop, the fund posted a monthly performance of -3.19%, compared with -4.09% for its Euro Stoxx NT benchmark, giving a positive relative performance of 90.

Over the month, the main relative outperformances of the stocks in the portfolio (versus Euro Stoxx) were : Iberdrola (+22 bps, active weight +3.3%), Palo Alto (+20 bps, active weight +4.6%), Vertiv (+17 bps, active weight +1.3%), Air Liquide (+11 bps, active weight +3.5%) and Bharti Airtel (+10 bps, active weight +3.4%). Conversely, the worst relative performers were : Thermo Fischer (-71 bps, active weight +3.7%), Enphase Energy (-64 bps, active weight +1.8%), Zoetis (-31 bps, active weight +3.3%), Nextera Energy (-31 bps, active weight +3.0%) and Danaher (-29 bps, active weight +4.0%).

Among the main movements, our exposure to Microsoft, Palo Alto and Waste Management was increased, while Daiichi Sankyo, CSL, Deere Novo Nordisk and Iberdola were reduced.

At month-end, the portfolio comprised 37 stocks. Overall, the fund's top 10 holdings account for almost 41.5% of net assets, with the top 5 comprising the following stocks: Palo Alto (>5%), TSMC (>5%), Xylem (>4%), Danaher (>4%) and Synopsys (>4%).

During this period of high volatility, the fund performed relatively well, both during the correction and in the rebound phase following the de-escalation of the trade war. Our relatively cautious allocation to the United States (58% in the portfolio vs. 64% in the MSCI AC World), due to the positioning of the technology stocks (30% of the fund) outside the stocks most affected by the Magnificent 7 (Apple, Amazon, Meta), combined with our diversification position in India (6% of the portfolio), offered an interesting balance in these different market cycles. While caution was the order of the day, with downward revisions to expected earnings growth, the current publication period is going rather well in view of the business environment, particularly in the AI segment. Nevertheless, we note 3 points of vigilance: currency effects (particularly the dollar), the effects of stockpiling ahead of potential price increases, which may temporarily accelerate business volumes, and the lack of visibility on the annual outlook. In all likelihood, second-quarter publications will be a better indicator of business trends and profitability.

Analysis methodology

We develop proprietary models based on our expertise and conviction to add tangible value in the selection of portfolio securities. DNCA's ESG analysis model, Above & Beyond Analysis (ABA), respects this principle and offers a rating that we control the entire construction. Information from companies is the main input to our rating. The methodologies for calculating ESG indicators and our responsible investor and engagement policy are available on our website by clicking here.

(1) The rating out of 10 integrates 4 risks of responsibility: shareholder, environmental, social and societal. Whatever their sector of activity, 24 indicators are evaluated, such as social climate, accounting risks, suppliers, business ethics, energy policy, quality of management.

(2) The ABA Matrix combines the Responsibility Risk and the Sustainable Transition exposure of the portfolio. It allows us to It allows companies to be mapped using a risk/opportunity approach.

(3) 1 No poverty. 2 Zero hunger. 3 Good health and well-being. 4 Quality education. 5 Gender equality. 6 Clean water and sanitation. 7 Clean and affordable energy. 8 Decent work and economic growth. 9 Industry, innovation and infrastructure. 10 Reduced inequalities. 11 Sustainable cities and communities. 12 Sustainable consumption and production. 13 Tackling climate change. 14 Aquatic life. 15 Terrestrial life. 16 Peace, justice and effective institutions. 17 Partnerships to achieve the goals.

(4) 5 transitions based on a long-term perspective of the financing of the economy allow the identification of activities with a positive contribution to sustainable development and to measure the exposure of companies in terms of turnover as well as exposure to the UN Sustainable Development Goals.

+The coverage rate measures the proportion of issuers (equities and corporate bonds) taken into account in the calculation of the extra-financial indicators. This measure is calculated as a % of the net assets adjusted for cash, money market instruments, derivatives and any vehicle outside the scope of "listed equities and corporate bonds".

Glossary

Beta. Measures the average extent to which a fund moves relative to the broader market. The beta of a market is 1. A fund with a beta of more than 1 moves on average to a greater extent than the market. A fund with a beta of less than 1 moves on average to a lesser extent. If beta is a minus number, it is likely that the stock and the market move in opposite directions.
Correlation coefficient. The correlation coefficient is a measure of correlation. It is used to determine the relationship between two assets over a given period. A positive coefficient means that the two assets move in the same direction. Conversely, a negative coefficient means that the assets move in the opposite direction. The correlation or decorrelation can be more or less strong and varies between -1 and 1.
Dividend yield. Annual dividends per share / Price per share
EV (Enterprise Value). Market value of common stock + market value of preferred equity + market value of debt + minority interest - cash and investments.
ND/EBITDA (Net Debt / EBITDA). A measurement of leverage, calculated as a company's interest-bearing liabilities minus cash or cash equivalents, divided by its EBITDA. The net debt to EBITDA ratio is a debt ratio that shows how many years it would take for a company to pay back its debt if net debt and EBITDA are held constant.
P/B. The Price to Book Ratio is the ratio of the market value of equity (market capitalisation) to its book value. It is used to compare the market valuation of a company with its book value.
P/CF (Share price/Cash Flow per Share). The price-to-cash-flow ratio is an indicator of a stock's valuation.
PER (Price Earnings Ratio). A company's share price divided by the amount of profits it makes for each share in a 12-month period. PE ratios are normally calculated on the base of all the profit made in the period, whether or not the profit is paid out to shareholders in that period.
ROE (Return On Equity). The amount of net income returned as a percentage of shareholders equity. Return on equity measures a corporation's profitability by revealing how much profit a company generates with the money shareholders have invested.
Sharpe Ratio. A way of measuring the historical risk-adjusted return on an investment. It is the average previous return minus the risk-free return, divided by the standard deviation (a measure of risk that looks at the diversion of actual returns from expected returns).
Sharpe Ratio. The Sharpe ratio measures the excess return over the risk-free money rate of an asset portfolio divided by the standard deviation of that return. It is therefore a measure of the marginal return per unit of risk. It is used to measure the performance of managers with different risk policies.
Tracking error. Tracking Error is a measure of how closely an investment portfolio follows the index against which it is benchmarked. It is the difference in the return earned by a portfolio and the return earned by the benchmark against which the portfolio is constructed. For example, if a bond portfolio earns a return of 5.15% during a period when the portfolio's benchmark (say, for example, the Lehman Brothers Index) produces a return of 5.06%, the tracking error is .09%, or 9 basis points.
